FOR PRESIDENT,

HENRY CLAY.

OF KENTUCKY.

WASHINGTON.

FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 24, 1843.

CLAY CLUB.

A writer in yesterday's Intelligencer proposes a postponement of the formation of this association here until the ensuing Spring. Our own wishes would certainly lead us to desire an earlier organization, but, as we have already said, we will cheerfully defer to any suggestions from that quarter. While we admit that the eve of the opening Congress is not an auspicious time for commencing this work, (which once begun must be vigorously prosecuted,) we also think that some definite understanding should be had as to the precise period when the CLAY CLUB, at headquarters, will be ready to co-operate with like associations throughout the land.

DR. DUNCAN'S LETTER.

We have procured a copy of "that letter," and although from its great length we shall be unable to publish the whole of it, we will give enough to shew the "Georgetown Democracy" that the Doctor would not be likely to feel insulted if the free negroes were to be invited to participate in his proposed welcome.

MAINE ELECTION-Doubt still hangs over two of the Districts in this State. It is thought by some of the papers that Morse (Whig) is elected in the Lincoln District, and that Cary (Loco-foco) is elected in the extreme eastern section. The votes in the recent trial show conclusively that the "Demoracy" is anything but united; the Whigs have made immense inroads upon their former majorities.

THE LATE SECRETARY OF IOWA .- We publish to-day a long communication from this gentleman, giving the details of circumstances attending his removal from office. If removal from office under John Tyler can excite any sympathy in behalf of the individuals ejected, it must be solely in view of the personal embarrassment in which it involves them. No honorable man will fail to rejoice at the sundering of bonds which can only be held together by the most degrading subserviency to the insolent and selfish traitors who now administer this Government.

RUMORS.—The Madisonian is at great pains to contradict a variety of rumors which find their way abroad in letters from this city. Mr. Calhoun is not to take Judge Upshurs place, and Mr. Porter and the President are on the best terms-so says the official. Will it also tell the public how the President and Mr. Spencer stand just now, and whether son Bobby has not recently declared that Mr. Spencer was no friend of Pa's and should not stay in his Cabinet?

Nine stores were broken open by the burglars in the city of Boston between Saturday night and Monday morning last. A very small sum of money, ten or eleven dollars, was all that the to the renown of our arms." robbers obtained.

The Hon. Kenneth Rayner declines being considered a candidate for nomination for the Governorship of North Carolina in the Whig State Convention, which is to assemble in December. Apart from other considerations, he considers it his duty and best policy to be at his post in the next Congress.

Mr. Van Buren and Free Trade .- The Journal of Commerce of yesterday morning says:

"Mr. Van Buren's avowal of free trade opinions has recently, if not before, been very dis-tinct, and such as to satisfy, we know, a great many free trade men and secure their votes."

It came out in the course of the trial of Bladen, before the Criminal Court at Alexandria, on Wednesday, that when the proposition was made to rob Arlington, and the Washington plate was spoken of, those concerned strongly objected to stealing that, on the ground that the whole United States would then be interested in discovering and convicting the thieves !- Gazette.

Bloody Affair .- A letter from Milledgeville, Georgia, to the Augusta Chronicle, dated the 14th instant, says:

"A gentleman from Hancock county has just apprised me of a most bloody tragedy which was enacted there last night. Owing to some family difficulty, two men named Culver and Jackson, went to the house of a Mr. Lawson to Jackson, went to the house of a Mr. Lawson to inflict on him personal chastisement. Lawson seized his gun and fled under cover of the darkness, but finding himself holly pursued, turned and fired, and strange to say, killed both his adversaries at one shot. My informant is a man of character and veracity, otherwise I should almost regard the story as fabulous."

"We congratulate our excellent friend SEVE-RANCE, who was our companion, at the typestand twenty-two years ago in Washington, upon his election to Congress as one of the Representatives from Maine. The people of Kennebec, in conferring this honor upon Mr. Severance, have done themselves honor, and secured a representative who has all the essentials of talent, information, and integrity—and business habits that will make him useful in any station."

The above congratulation is tendered by John S. Gallaher, Esq., of the Virginia Free Press Charlestown. Mr. Gallaher has frequently represented his county in the State Legislature, and might do his friends equal credit in a much higher station. What a glorious spectacle would be the meeting of two such friends, after a separation of years, in States widely apart, on the floor of Congress! Verily, the reward of patient, honest toil, let it come never so late, is always sweeter than sudden and casual elevation.

A Whig Delegate .- The Whigs of the fifth Congressional District, New York, have chosen Dudley Selden as their Delegate to the National Convention, with Jacob Acker as substitute.-

Odd Fellows .- We learn from the Savannah Georgian, that the Rev. Albert Case, D.D., Grand Sire of the Grand Lodges of the United States, instituted the above Grand Lodge at Washing-ton Hall, in that city, on Monday evening, 13th instant, under a charter granted by the Grand Lodge of the United States.

The Electoral vote of Massachusetts.—Since the recent election in Massachusetts, and the failure to elect their State officers by the people, inquiry has been busy to learn how the electors for President and Vice President are to be chosen n that State in the event of a failure to elect by in that State in the event of a failure to elect by the people. The Constitution of Massachusetts requires a majority of all the votes cast to elect electors of President and Vice President. In case there is no choice by the people the choice devolves upon the Legislature. Should there be no choice next year, on the Legislature which has just been elected will devolve the duty of choosing at an extra session, electors of President and Vice President.—Harrisburg Rep.

The Sugar Crop.-From all parts, says the Lafourche Patriot, we are receiving accounts of the small quantity of sugar already made and that is likely to be made this season. In some places not half a hogshead is made to the arpent, and in others not more than a quarter. We and in others not more than a quarter. We have not heard of one place where an arpent of cane has yielded a hogshead of sugar. There can be no doubt that the crop will he very short. The price must be very high to yield the planters any profit at all. The weather is fine, but it is too late for the cane to improve much.

A Necessary Law.—We suggest to Congress the expediency of passing a law vesting the con-firmation of the Assistant Postmaster General in the Senate. That officer exercises a great political influence, and his duties are of a character but little inferior to those of the Postmaster General. It so happens that persons, whom the Senate has rejected as not trustworthy for other post, slips into the Assistant Postmastership with the sanction of the President alone; these persons could have no chance of occupying such a post were their qualifications and character submitted to the ordeal of a Senatorial investigation. We trust that this subject will meet the early attention of Congress,—Forum.

ANECDOTE OF HENRY CLAY.

When Mr. Clay was in Paris, immediately after the close of negotiations at Ghent, he was introduced to Madame de Stael at a ball. Mr. C. had a pleasant interview with the gifted wo-man, who informed him that she had recently visited England, and had openly espoused the cause of the United States there, remarking that the British were greatly exasperated against them, and entertained serious intentions of de-spatching the Duke of Wellington, at the head of their armies, for the purpose of inflicting pro-per chastisement upon them. He politely thank-ed her for the interest she manifested in behalf of his country, at the same time expressing his regret that England had not carried out her intentions. "Why!" said Madame. "Because," he replied, "if he had beaten us, we should only have been in the condition of Europe, with

Mr. Clay afterwards met Madame de Stael at a select coterie at her own dwelling, where he found the Marshals of France, the Duke of Wellington, and others. On introducing Mr. Clay to the noble Duke, Madame de Stael repeated the above anecdote. The Duke replied promptly and gracefully, that had he been so fortunate in the execution of such a commission as to triumph over a foe evincing so much bravery as the Amer-cans had, he should regard it as a greater honor than the most brilliant victory he had ever achieved !- Boston Transcript.

The mother may hang over the pillow where her babe slumbers,

"And weave a song of melancholy joy," as she gazes on its tranquil features, till in he visions, she beholds him in the stateliness of his strength, and sees him surrounded by other forms, who look up to him as to an oracle, abounding who look up to him as to an oracle, abounding in wisdom, and depending, as it were, upon his word and counsel, for their rule. But how seldom are those hopes realized? How often do blight and mildew fall upon the fullest ear, and decay come, before the harvest is ripe for the sickle and ready for the garner. Then falls, over that mother's heart, the rayless night of despair!

The pure, the dear, the virtuous people!—The presses, which arrogate to themselves exclusive devotion to the people, and which for years had been singing hosannas to the virtue and infallibility of the multitude, have, since the election of '40, omitted no opportunity to represent the object of their idolatry as wanting in the simplest virtues. They hold up the mass as influenced in that canvass by the most sordid or the most senseless considerations; as mercenaries without principle, or as dolts, whose infallible judgmems were biased by the most ridiculous tricks and mummeries. Thus demonstrating, if their charges be true, that the people of this country—whom they affect to worship—are incapable of self-government, and no longer worthy of freedom. government, and no longer worthy of freedom.

Fight with a Cat Owl .- The Boston Post records the following incident, which occurred in that city, late on Saturday night, 18th instant, that city, late on Saturday night, 18th instant, As Mr. John White, musician, approached his door in Bridge street, his attention was arrested by the glaring eyeballs of an uncouth looking animal, crouching in his cellar window. The object had such a "questionable shape," that he was induced to poke it with the end of his hickory cane. This indignity it instantly resented by flying directly at him; its fierce and burning eves giving it the appearance of a winged demon. by hyng directly at him, its needed and dufined eyes giving it the appearance of a winged demon. With a well-directed blow he crippled one of its wings, but it still continued the attack, and, fastening its talons on the stout stick, it actually wrested it out of Mr. White's hand. It held on while he raised it with the stick, and he gave it the coup de grace by beating it, still attached to the stick, against the stone step. Upon examination, it proved to be a tremendous cat owl, and measured four feet nine and a half inches from tip to tip of the wings. It is to be stuffed and placed in a private museum. Where the bird came from is not known; but a few minutes before the rencounter, Mr. Alexander Gifford, provision dealer, while carrying a large turkey home in the neighborhood, was repeatedly startled by the rustling of wings over his head, but upon looking up could discern nothing, and the strange rustling ceased when he came under a lamp. It probably then sought obscurity in the cellar window, awaiting another chance at the tempting turkey, which the blazing lamp had scared it

A Yankee Trick.—The Common Council of New York, just before the late elections, passed an ordinance, increasing the pay of the city watchmen—the ordinance to have a retrospective operation. This was designed, and so understood, to be a consideration to the watchmen to bestir themselves in the election. They did so, and all of them voted, like true men, the regular ticket. Last week they called at the city treasury for their increased pay—when they were informed that the mayor had vetoed the ordi-

THE WONDERFUL CURES

Per-form-Compound Syrup

Cincinnati, Feb. 15, 1840.

Dr. Swayne—Dear Sir:

DERMIT me to take the liberty of writing to you at this time to express my approbation, and to commend to the attention of heads of families and recommend to the attention of heads of families and others your invaluable medicine—the Compound Syrup of Prunus Virginiana, or Wild Cherry Bark. In my travels of late, I have seen, in a great many instances, the wonderful effects of your medicine in relieving children of very obstinate complaints, such as Coughing, Wheezing, Choking of Phlegm, Asthmatic attacks, &c., &c. I should not have written this letter, however, at present, although I have felt it my duty to add my testimony to it for some time, had it not been for a late instance where the medicine above alluded to was instrumental in restoring to perfect health an "only child," whose case was almost hopeless, in a family of my acquaintance. "I to perfect health an "only child," whose case was almost hopeless, in a family of my acquaintance. "I thank Heaven," said the doating mother, "my child is saved from the jaws of death!" and I now say and believe that, beyond all doubt, Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry is the most valuable medicine in this or any other country. I am certain I have witnessed more than one hundred cases where it has been attended with complete success. I am using it myself in an obstinate attack of Bronchitis, in which it proved effectual in an exceedingly short time, considering the severity of the case. I can recommend it in the fullest confidence of its superior virtues; I would advise that no family should be without it; it is very pleasant and always beneficial—worth double, and often ten times its price. The public are assured there is no quackery about it.

Execution.-This is the day that the awful entence of the law is to be enforced upon the negro Daniel at Marlborough, for the murder of John Smith. Daniel has made a full confession of the deed. He was to have been executed to-day at 12 o'clock, and we doubt not that the sentence was carried into effect, and ere this he has been launched into Eternity!

Improvement of the Centre Market .- In passing the Centre Markethouse this morning, we noticed that workman were engaged in putting on a new roof, which has been long wanted, as for some time past the market has been in a leaky condition. The old fence adjacent to the market upon the avenue has also been removed; and we are informed that many other improvements are about to be adopted, under the super-intendence of the Clerk of the Market, Mr. John Waters, and the City Commissioners.

Juvenile Thieves .- A gentleman at Galabrun's lotel had occasion to go to his room this mornng at rather an unexpected moment, when he discovered two boys there in the act of stealing clothes from the bed. He whipped them soundly and let them run.

I want to know how it is possible for any set of men that have no practical knowledge of the business, to sell clothes cheaper than practical tailors' men that know no more about making doths than they know about laying brick—notwithstanding all their arrangements with the celebrated tailors to cut and make their clothes, and their great facilities for buying goods, unless they have a facility for buying with out paying for them? I am determined to undersel them, and not to sacrifice my trade to such an avaricious set of men until the last dollar is gone! Al I ask is for you to call and examine for yeurselves.
